

Working at the Office

Many people work at the office everyday. They use trains and buses to go to their work place. Some people work early in the morning until late at night, so they want to relax on weekends.

