

New Technology at the Restaurants

In Japan, there is a need for workers who can work late at night for low salary. However, it is difficult for restaurants to find enough of these workers. Now, experts have developed machines that can do tasks such as delivering the dishes to the costumers. Some restaurants use such machines, and by doing so they offer better services without employing more staff.

Your story should begin with this sentence: One day, Mr. Kawai and Mrs. Kawai was talking in front of the restaurant.

