

Writing Skills

Writing is a very important skill for understanding things. Today, however, some teachers say that students need more help with their writing skills. Many students exchange only short messages on their smartphones, so they sometimes have trouble writing Japanese. Students need to have good writing skills to understand things better.

