

A Shortage of Teachers

Nowadays, some parts of Japan do not have enough teachers. It is said that many people do not want to be teachers, and this can cause problems for students living in that area. A shortage of teachers will prevent these students from receiving equal education opportunity, so it is a serious issue. Many people say the government needs to do more about this situation.

Your story should begin with this sentence: One day, Mrs. Taguchi was talking to his son in the living room.

