

Reducing Plastics

Today, restaurants are trying to help the environment. They have started services that let customers reduce plastic more easily. Some restaurants use paper straws to the customers, and by doing so they can reduce the amount of plastics. Such restaurants are trying to make the environment better and attract customers at the same time.

