

Environmentally Friendly Materials

Nowadays, many companies are trying to use environmentally friendly materials. For example, some companies make bags and bottles from recycled plastic. Many people buy such products, and by doing so they help reduce waste and protect the environment. However, these products are sometimes more expensive. People should think about how to support this movement.

Your story should begin with this sentence: One day, Saki and her brother were talking on a bench.

